Category discrepancy explanation

As of Friday, August 11th, our records indicated that we reconciled with no discrepancies. We ran the reconciliation report first thing this morning 8/15/23 and VoteWA confirmed that we were reconciled with no discrepancies. We noticed that one voter did not have the current election name on her voting history tab. When we deleted and re-added this history, the total number of credited voters went up by one. Therefore, the reconciliation report run this morning after certification reflects that we have one more ballot credited than counted.
